Volume 53

Each of us is a unique individual with dreams, hopes and an acute awareness of reality ... but the impossibility of total self-sufficiency forces each of us to depend on one another.

Real growth in life comes to us from within, comes to us from our relationships with other people . . . it does not come to us alone.

At the same time we must always be reaching . . .

without reaching to each other we go nowhere.

It is the genius of children in this matter that they know how to go out to other people, that they know how to reach spontaneously and how to establish a relationship easily.

Man can only exist where a plurality of individuals share a common life . . . in the last analysis, what are we but the continual affirmation of each other's humanity? And each time that we fail to act with the utmost honesty and compassion toward one another, we diminish in essence.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

THIS YEAR'S ASUPS OFFICERS Perpetuate Student Activities

The ability to elect people to authoritative, decision making positions is a power that we now find ourselves possessing. It's a responsibility that goes on from generation to generation, and its effectiveness is measured by our attitude towards our decisions.

"This is the fire that will help the generations to come, if they use it in a sacred manner, but if they do not use it well, the fire will have the power to do them great harm."

PANHELLENIC/IFC Work Toward Greek Relevance

Rod Schaaf, IFC president

Greeks — who are they? The term is bandied about — it is a symbol to many on the campus of mindless, faceless, thoughtless students — remnants of a past age of rah-rah's and raccoon coats, ridiculous rituals and farcial functions.

People often think of Greeks as an awkward army waging a losing battle against the relentless tide of change and individual freedom.

But Greeks are not an army, and they are not raccoon festooned robots of the establishment.

Greeks are students, they are people who wonder, and think and search; people who are concerned — who care. Greeks don't pretend to have the only successful way of life on a campus . . . but they are living a life they enjoy. Each member lives in a house for his own reasons, as does every member have his own reasons for choosing an individual house.

Each house is a conglomerate of all the individual thoughts, goals and desires of its members. The "now Greeks" are students who have chosen the Greek system as a viable avenue through which to seek change and progress, personal growth and fulfillment. We are not saying that it is the only way, but it is an effective one.

HOUSING COMMITTEE

Makes Campus Living Enjoyable

Designates location of living groups ... works on plausible plans for SUB rearrangement ... working on plans for remodeling central tunnels ... drawing up plans for a serve-yourself snack bar ... a committee of faculty, administration, and students attempting to make campus living more enjoyable.

STUDENT FACULTY RELATIONS COMMITTEE: Policy Makers

A committee of faculty, administration, and student membership which is instrumental in student policy decisions ... works to promote a beneficial relationship between the students and faculty.

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL

Represents all facets of University Life

A body establishing policy at the University ... with representatives from faculty, administration, and student body ... composed of several sub-committees working exclusively on individual issues ... University Council strives for equitable policy ... to serve the University by providing a clearing house for new ideas and change.

year shaky for Draft status

The Registrar's office has announced a temporary delay in the processing of freshman applications for student deferments. The office is awaiting official word from Washington D. C. on the status of the new selective service bill presently bottled up in the Senate.

According to Jean Schrodol of the Tacoma Draft Counseling office, the present law under which we now operate allows for deferments for first year college students. However, the new law yet to be passed eliminates first year college deferments.

Major Floyd Hargrove reports that those enrolled in the campus ROTC program are still receiving deferments.

For further information concerning your draft status, visit the Draft Counseling office at Court C or call BR 2-7744.

FOR SALE: One (1) blue ceramic vase stolen from Anderson-Langdon Lounge.

WANTED: A sane approach to the publication of the UPS TRAIL

WANTED: Weekend transportation to U. district. Call ext. 1117

The TRAIL this year was different in several respects. The most significant difference was the staff.

The writers this year included Tim Kleespies, Carol Richards, Alan Smith, Greg Brewis, Allan Poobus, and Dave Bird.

Kleespies, a junior philosophy major from Walla Walla, Washington and Smith, a freshman from some little town in Okanogan County, were responsible for the major portion of the regular straight news writing.

Kleespies was also responsible for pictures, cutlines, and last minute corrections during layout, and Smith was responsible for headlines.

Carol Richards, a senior fine arts major, worked with the arts and entertainment section, and did investigative work and feature writing in various fields.

Greg Brewis, a senior political science major from Seattle, served as a university political analyst, in addition to writing various feature stories. Brewis' position on the University Council and his experience as freshman class president and delegate at large lent insight to his analyses.

D. F. Bird, as he preferred to be referred to, was literary editor. He worked on coordinating various literary supplements, reviewed literary publications, and wrote an irregular column.

Allan Poobus maintained connections with the underground and contributed various items, from reviews to games to political analyses.

Dave Whitford and Fred Bullert sports. Whit wrote classic "optimistic" copy while Bullert ranked the sports teams impartially, whether they won or lost.

Marty Nakayama, business administration major and senior, served as business manager. This year concluded three years on the staff for Nakayama.

Working on securing advertisements were Jerry McLaughlin, Desera Towle, Don Erickson, Jim Sanderson, and Roger Levinhagen.

Trail Features

Layout

This year a major emphasis was the improvement of the quality of the layout. Supported by typists on work-study, Patty Simpson, a freshman from Vancouver, Washington, ran the IBM magnetic system which set all the type for the paper. Nancy Gudger, a freshman from Hoquiam, Washington, organized the artistic layout. Ann Thomas, a senior flute student, was responsible for final straightening and copy preparation.

Sharon Heath handled the photography. Bob Cruickshank drew editorial cartoons.

Also working from time to time on various projects were Cheryl Spencer, Gretchen Snow, Betsy Burness, Becca Parker, Rick Kendig, Ramona Fuller, Arlene Moritz, Wes Jordan, and Mary Seyfarth.

The printing was done on the offset web press owned by the Peninsula Gateway.

The TRAIL this year featured straight news reporting combined with wide-open editorial pages in which opinion from all approaches was welcomed. The proportion of the paper taken up by pictures was increased, and professional layout procedures were adopted.

Stan Lee, editor of Marvel comics says his comics have more plot, character development and realism than most comics, "Marvel is very similar to Shakespeare in that they both exaggerate to tell a story. When Shakespeare wants comic relief he doesn't fool around. Marvel exaggerates plots and characters to make them realistic for the reader who can accept the story's first premise."

Mr. Lee started with Marvel thirty three years ago when he answered an advertisement for an errand boy. For many years he worked with Jack Kirby, their two names are the best known in the comic industry synonymous with excellence in scripts and in artwork.

Deep in December it's nice to remember
Without a hurt the heart is hollow.
Deep in December it's nice to remember
The fire of September that made us mellow.
Deep in December our hearts should remember.

Everything from Death and Dying to capturing life in laytex...highlights included a blizzard (Tacoma Style) and a power failure...Winterim Activities tried to pry everyone away from the "boob tube"...captured rather well in the Winterim Follies.

GROUP HOME

"To get kids out of the institution and into the community so that they will hopefully be able to get back into the home." On this principle was Group Home established. Homes were set up for 17 children in White and Stucco Houses in co-operation with Rainier State School, Buckley. Here 7 full-time staff members, 1 urban studies intern, and UPS students work with the children to help them back into the environment of everyday life.

Classes are held at First Congregational Church each day. Two special education teachers and three child care specialists are involved with the children in this classroom situation. Afternoon activities including swimming, basketball, clay, woodworking, and cooking are supervised by UPS students. High school students who come through Community Lab, earn high school credit along with the satisfaction of having helped a child live a life that is often taken for granted.

The staff at White House includes Jim and Barbara Plant, Jamie Holder, and Jim Rudsit. Mary Klamm, John Wingfield, Rory MacDonald, and Susan Simpson are in charge of activities at Stucco House.

Half the joy of life is in little things taken on the run. Let us run if we must — even the sands do that — but let us keep our hearts young and our eyes open that nothing worth our while shall escape us. And everything is worth its while if we only grasp it and its significance.

Let Maps to other, worlds on worlds have showne,
Let us possesse one world, each hath one,

That all human beings are alike,

BETA THETA PI

Individual success is nothing new, nothing unique; but we pride ourselves on our excellence of personal achievement.

Yet the Beta Spirit has something more somehow. It's the brother who borrows your car with a full tank of gas and returns it empty, but stays up all night typing your term paper. And it's the brother who steals your Business Law text the night before the test because he didn't buy it himself, and then spends two days replacing the clutch in your car. And it's getting really excited about the intramural game today -- and you just know we'll win. And it's working damn hard on the work party to clean the house. And it's taking some kids to a football game. And it's supporting an orphan with a Beta scholarship. And it's holding an all-school kegger.

It takes a long time for a Beta to understand his house. But behind the big white pillars and the gold letters over the door are fifty guys who do a lot of giving. A Beta knows no group of guys who would do as much for each other and contribute as much to the campus as his fraternity. He knows -- because he has done a lot of giving himself.

I want to thank you, Lord,

*For some special people that I love
Special people who love me
Just because I'm me,
People who believe
That I'm important, as I am.*

*Even when I'm sour and disgusting,
People who listen
When I spit out my feelings
When I cannot find the words,
People who shake me
When my spirit falls asleep.*

*For all those special people
I want to shout and shout with thanks.*

*Those are the people,
One today, one tomorrow,
Who looked for
That part of me that's me,
Who groan with me
Until that part of me is free,
Who will love
Whatever's left of me
When the day is over.*

*For all those very special people
I want to sing and sing with love.*

whose boundaries were seldom hidden,
and of the giving of constant insight
to further knowledge.
The cost of learning is priceless . . .*

*But the specific now seems trivial;
we somehow wonder why?*

and

*how now, future?
You have contributed a segment to
our uncertain puzzle of life,
giving us the time to ponder the mystery
now and forever . . .*

*The knowledge and hope for continuing friendship outweigh that of discovery;
for we are but a mere grain of sand
in the hand of concern.*

Thank you - -

*You, who took so little and yet gave so much . . .
and that has made all the difference.*

- Phi Delta Theta is not a golden lion with ruby red lips, a bell that goes "ding-dong," a pretty white Greek column or two, or a far out sauna bath.
- Phi Delts are not afraid to involve themselves.
- Phi Delts cannot be cussed or discussed as a stereotype.
- Phi Delta Theta will not prostitute itself for anyone or anything.

Laughter — while it lasts, slackens and unbraces the mind, weakens the faculties, and causes a kind of remissness and dissolution in all the powers of the soul; and thus far it may be looked upon as a weakness in the composition of human nature.

But if we consider the frequent reliefs we receive from it, and how often it breaks the gloom which is apt to depress the mind and dampen our spirit, with transient, unexpected gleams of joy, one would take care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life.
